

L. P. Fisher, newspapers advertising agents, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our author. This paper is kept on file in his office.

A PAPER VINDICATED.

Mr. Martin Kelly the junk dealer, Republican boss and all round crook, had to pay $359 costs on his libel suit with the Examiner. For a masterly review of Kelly's character and habits, read last Sunday's Examiner where the man's slimy record was dissected in a most masterly manner by Arthur McEwen.

He began life in San Francisco fifteen years ago as a wharf rat, thief and junk dealer, tried to murder a couple of men, got some thieving municipal contracts and soon became a man of wealth and boss of the Republican party in San Francisco. Judges could not wear their ermine until Kelly gave the word. This miserable whelp who was spawned in the slums of city front politics and grew out a boss from a ward heeler, and ballot stuffer, became the man who dictated all the officers.

Nevada has not been without its thieves and murderers in politics, but the atmosphere is changing, and they are going to the rear. No wonder the people are calling for a new party.

Kelly is now a collapsed quantity and a new boss will have to be dug up. He must show conclusively that he will steal and shoot to be qualified.

The verdict of the jury in the libel suit shows that when leading politicians are thieves and crooks the press has a right to say so. The press makes the politicians and there is no reason why the newspapers should fear their own creations.

When the newspapers combine against the carrion crew of dirty birds there will be a change in the political atmosphere.

A Great Chorus From Salt Lake.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: Arrangements have about been perfected for bringing the famous Mormon tabernacle chorus here. The plan is to rent the pavilion and give a series of concert through the winter season. The tabernacle chorus was organized by Brigham Young. There was originally about 100 members in the organization, but it now includes about 500 persons. Out of this number, however, only the best singers will be chosen to come to this city, about 160 being the number extracted, which will comprise practically the same vocalists who were in attendance at the World's fair.

Beneficial.

The News was first issued on the morning of the 21st of June 1891. This is for the benefit of the APPEAL.

Never mind about the year; that cuts no figure in the present case. A volume of any paper is supposed to include six months. If Miss Martin can discover six months between the 21st of June and the 21st of November, we will subscribe for a year and pay in advance, just for the benefit of the News, you know.

The Rain.

A refreshing rain commenced early yesterday morning, and continued at intervals nearly all day. The air was quite warm, however, and the atmosphere after the storm was very clear. The rain was very welcome to everybody, as it not only settled the dirt, but also settled several grave doubts as to whether we were going to have any winter or not.

Smallpox Spreading.

Chicago, November 23.—Smallpox is spreading rapidly in Chicago. Commissioner Reynolds yesterday asked that $11,000 more be appropriated for the purchase of vaccine virus.

Governor Colcord has sent his daughter to the Stanford University. The Governor does not seem to have much confidence in the educational institutions of the State over which he presides.—Independent.

Ives and Schaffer are matched to play a 500-point billiard game, cushion carom, for a stake of $22,000, winner to take all.
